ELIGIBILITY FOR EARLY DISCHARGE FROM PROBATION

Procedure and Requirements:

1. You may request early discharge from probation by filing a Notice of Eligibility for Early Discharge from Probation (MC 512) once you have successfully completed one half of the original probationary term ordered by the Judge.
2. You must serve a copy of the Notice of Eligibility for Early Discharge from Probation on the prosecutor and the probation department. A proof of service must be filed with the court.
3. The court may deny your request if you do not serve the necessary parties and file the proper documents.
4. The court will not consider early discharge unless all probation requirements have been completed and at least three consecutive months have passed with no probation violations.
5. You may have a lawyer represent you at the hearing. However, you do not have the right to a court-appointed attorney.
6. If you are on probation for Domestic Violence, you are not eligible for early release from probation.
7. Early discharge from probation does not relieve you of your court-ordered financial obligations.
