

Chef and Hospitality Expert Nina Love

Nina Love is a hospitality and food & beverage expert, consultant and educator with a passion for providing hospitality excellence. With 21 years of experience, her mission is to educate and inspire those who seek to be future leaders in this industry.

Love has operated her own full-service food and beverage brand since 2009. She currently runs The Love Experience, a food service brand focused on providing exquisite cuisine, stunning presentations and unparalleled customer service. Previously, she served as a chef at the Pentagon and a sous chef at the U.S. House of Representatives. Love has also managed several restaurants, catering companies and food service operations at Georgetown University and the University of Maryland.

During the 2024 NFL Draft in Detroit, Love led a 43-member catering team that served 3,500 people throughout the week-long event.

She is invested in the community, providing educational classes and workshops and information on holistic health and nutrition in addition to full-service catering, bar service, event planning, event production, equipment rentals, pop-up restaurants, public and private events and more.
